JUICYWATERCOLOURS

Hi I am Adele Doxey aka Juicywatercolours.

I began painting and drawing at a very early age. (My mum still has the 2 yo me drawings of people framed in her cottage. My love for painting us lifelong and I am still am still learning.

I didn't attend formal art school though my teenage heart longed to go. But I have had the most amazing art teachers and mentors throughout my life (as though the universe put me in the path of people who would help me develop.

I realised I loved watercolour when I met a mentor who worked intuitively in the medium. I have tried and trained in them all but I return to watercolour over and over. I love the freedom of expression, the way it paints itself. My style is intuitive, fluid and flowing and it's often said has an ethereal quality. I paint what inspires me from the feelings evoked from the beautiful natural world around us. I am forever inspired by flowers and the little creatures that visit them, birds, sea, and lots more.

For this workshop I will guide you to paint a loose birds nest and eggs, through demonstration, meditation as you paint along with me. I can't wait to meet you all.
